Cache allows you to catalog all of your belongings in one convenient location. Find gift ideas for friends, track who you lent that book to, or find that last piece missing from your collection.

To get started, just make an account and start adding your belongings. Sort them by category, type, whichever way helps you keep track of them best.

Have to file an insurance claim? Filing your taxes? Assign items a location and value so that next time you are prepared. Export plain text lists to easily figure out what has been lost or needs to be claimed.

There are several apps that perform part of what Cache strives to do, such as Whisp for clothing and Libib for books.

Most of them are only designed for tracking one type of collection, while Cache is designed to keep them all in one place.

Future Expansion

There are several things I'd like to expand upon in the future to make this a more well rounded project:

Profile

- Recently added items
- Rework UI
- Track watched movies, TV show episodes

Mock-up Forms

- Design form for adding items: name, picture, category, part of collection (2 out of 5)
- Pages for adding Collections, Outfits, Locations

Scene Builder

- Mock-up a camera overlay for taking pictures that work with the "Scene Builder"
- All pictures taken in this way (certain angle, on a plain white backdrop) can be output as a scene containing all the items (i.e. My Shoe Collection)

Plain Text Lists

- Mock-up UI for outputting of categories/collections into plain text lists for insurance, tax purposes

Thanks for viewing!
